Will Rogers Remarks:

NEW YORK, Feb. 17. (To the Editor of The Times:—) There has been quite an argument over whose budget will pay for the new cruisers just voted. Coolidge has offered to split the cost 50-50. He will pay for the blueprints if Hoover will pay for the cruisers.

Greece owed us $17,850,000 on a war debt. So Saturday Congress passed a bill to loan 'em $12,150,000 so it would make it an even $30,000,000. We don't like to be bothered with being owed small uneven sums.

Truth comes out mighty slow. Florida wants the Federal government to pay all the expenses of putting a windbreak around Lake Okechobee so the water won't all blow out. Religion didn't drive that State Republican.

Yours,

WILL ROGERS.

WASHINGTON BIRTHPLACE PURCHASED

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Buys Portion of Wakefield Estate for Association

NEW YORK, Feb. 17. (AP)—Purchase by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., of 267 acres of the Wakefield estate on which George Washington was born in Westmoreland county, Virginia, was announced today.

The purchase was made for the Wakefield National Memorial Association, which is preparing to rebuild Wakefield, the house in which Washington was born, in time for the bicentennial celebration, 1932. The property, consisting of woodlands and cornfields, fronts the Potomac River, and on it stands the Washington family graveyard, in which are buried Col. John Washington, first of the Washington family in America, who came from England in 1656 and died in 1676, and members of seven succeeding generations who possessed the estate during 132 years. Eleven headstones now stand in the cemetery.

The burial ground was conveyed to the Wakefield association last week by Washington heirs, W. Lanier Washington, Mary Washington Keyser, Washington Perine, George C. Perine, Marie Perine Platt, Mildred Washington Perine, Washington Perine and Eleanor Washington Freeman. Mr. Rockefeller paid $118,000 for the tract. When his interest was attached to the estate, he organized the River Holding Corporation, which has taken title to the property and holds it in trust for the Wakefield organization.

It is estimated that the total cost of the land, restoration and general improvements will be about $500,000.

Cardinal Flays Wealth Vanity

BOSTON, Feb. 17. (AP)—William Cardinal O'Connell today described "self-made plutocrats" and those with the "vanity of wealth" as among the worst menaces which this country could produce.

The cardinal spoke before the St. Vincent De Paul Society at a communion breakfast here.

"Because these wealthy have made a fortune," he said, "they grow such silly vanity as to be literally a menace, and the greater the wealth the greater the menace. One of the worst evils which America can produce, and at times has produced, is the so-called self-made plutocrat."

Crime Commission's Report Denounces System of Handling Prisoners

Control by Commonwealth Declared Necessary to Destroy Evils

NEW YORK, Feb. 17. (AP)—Severely criticizing jails and other local penal institutions throughout the country, a committee of the National Crime Commission, in a report made public today, recommended that the "individual States should take over the care of all their convicted prisoners."

The subcommittee, headed by Frank O. Lowden, former Governor of Illinois, reported that nearly nine-tenths of all commitments are made to local institutions, such as county and municipal jails, workhouses, farms, chain gangs and camps, and charged that these conditions, the prevalence of bedbugs and lice, universal idleness, the prevailing practice of subjecting prisoners to the oversight of male attendants, and the scheme which one finds in many States of paying the jailer a per diem sum for boarding each prisoner without specifying how much, or shall we say, how little, food is given to him.

In support of its claims the committee cited the testimony of individuals and excerpts from official reports from several of the States and declared that "we have been informed by many reliable persons that they represent a fair picture of at least 85 per cent of the jails and other local institutions as they are today."

POINTS TO NEEDS

It declared that as units of prison administration counties and municipalities are too small; that only under full State control can prisoners be freed from the particular institution best suited to their needs and that "the State is in a better position to make the ideas and the ideals of the few persons competent in these matters serve the entire community."

The plan we offer for the remedying of this situation," the report continued, "is of a two-fold character involving, on the one hand, a strengthening of State control and on the other a building up of county and municipal machinery."

Recognizing that certain difficulties exist in the way of realization of its program, the committee suggested that there are several ways in which to begin.

"If a State cannot afford," it said, "to embark on the policy of creating a sufficient number of institutions to care for all misdemeanant prisoners, it should consider making the selection not according to the crime, nor the length of sentence, but preferably on the basis of personality."

LIGHTEN LOAD

It stated that the load on local prisons could be lightened to the extent of 28 per cent through the building up of probation agencies and systems for the collection of fines, and that the form of sentence should vary with the type of offender; and that the State should care for all convicted misdemeanants in need of institutional treatment.

The report was signed by the secretary of the committee, Louis M. Robinson, noted economist and criminologist. Other members of the committee are: Arnold Bennett Hall, Mrs. Jessie D. Hodder, Clark Howell, Sam A. Lewisohn, Sumner T. McKnight, George L. Radcliffe and Charles S. Whitman.

Air Crash Kills Amateur Flyer

PORTLAND (Or.) Feb. 17. (AP)—William R. Fenton, 32 years of age, amateur pilot and service superintendent of the Howard Automobile Company, was killed almost instantly when the airplane he was flying went into a tail spin and crashed on the Swan Island airport field here today. Fenton was removed from the wrecked ship and died in an ambulance en route to a hospital.

Russian Utility Deals Reported

MOSCOW, Feb. 17. (AP)—Chairman Khandrov of the concessions committee, announced today that negotiations are being conducted with several American concerns for the construction of utilities such as water, electric light and street railways totalling $20,000,000.

He said the field of building and improving municipal utilities in Russia is virtually limitless and offers tremendous opportunities for foreign investment.

NAPOLEON IV PLOT HINTED

Report Says Princess Clemantine and Frenchman Will Try to Install Her Son as Emperor

BRUSSELS, Feb. 17. (Exclusive)—Has Princess Clemantine of Belgium, widow of the French throne pretender, Victor Napoleon, actually entered an alliance with the Parisian perfume manufacturer, Senator and newspaper magnate, Francois Coty, to overthrow the French republic and make her son Louis Napoleon, IV, Napoleonic Emperor of France?

This riddle is stirring all Belgium as the conservative daily Libre Belgique reports sensational revelations made by Rene De Planhol, French Royalist and journalist, affirming that Coty is negotiating with Princess Clemantine to set Louis Napoleon, now 17 years of age, on the French Imperial throne.

SON HAS NEW SOUL

The Princess, the writer stated, has picked Gen. Boyer, French war hero, to teach her son history and military strategy. Gen. Boyer, an ardent patriot and soldier, is said to have completely transformed the character of the young Prince, who has changed so much in recent months his friends say he has a new soul. He now feels himself the successor of Napoleonic rulers and no longer a useless child pretender.

The Princess and Coty, according to the writer, plan for the Prince to regain the throne in much the same way as his illustrious ancestor who became Napoleon III after overthrowing the second French republic, whose President he had been before the coup d'etat.

PLAN OUTLINED

By means of his powerful newspaper, Planhol says, "Coty will first ruin the decadent French parliamentary system by demanding greater powers for the President, then present the young Prince as a candidate for the Presidency at the opportune moment, and, if successful, re-establishment of an Imperial dynasty will follow naturally."

The Princess now is 56 years of age, tall, beautiful, tall, blond and defenseless against the plot accusation as she is ill with influenza and while no one in her magnificent Brussels home, filled with Napoleonic relics furnished in purest empire style, dares either deny or confirm the Coty alliance, Coty is a Corsican, like the Bonapartes.

Padnos, O. S., Capt. Rind's message read, "proceeding to destination."

MECHANICAL BIRD INVENTED

Research Man Builds Machine He Believes Will Fly Straight Up, Backward and Forward

CHICAGO, Feb. 17. (Exclusive)—A Chicago inventor has fashioned of wire and linen and twisted steel a queer mechanical bird that, so his models and blueprints tell him, will fly backward and forward, and up and down while its wings whirl round at a speed of 225 revolutions a minute. It will be tested tomorrow.

The inventor, S. P. Nemeth, a three blades, each two feet wide and about ten feet long. In theory, the machine is propelled by the whole mechanism which rotates in the manner of a turbine or steamboat side wheeler. The machine is guided by changing the angle of the various blade surfaces. A third set of revolving blades sustains the tail.

CHICAGO'S MASSACRE UNSOLVED

Police Opine Canadians May be Gang Killers; Moran Pleads Ignorance

CHICAGO, Feb. 17. (AP)—International liquor traffic, in the opinion of Chicago prosecutors, holds the secret of the St. Valentine's Day massacre of seven Chicago gangsters. This theory stood out most prominently today as officers continued a fruitless search for the killers in the belief that the massacre was the culminating act of a series of bombings and hi-jackings in a liquor war between Canadian importing syndicates that had the wholesale market of Chicago as its prize.

"We are looking to Detroit for solution of the seven George Moran gang murders," one of the prosecutors said after a secret conference with Detroit policemen, adding that arrests were expected momentarily. Moran himself sent word to Chief of Detectives Egan that he did not know and could not guess the identity of the killers.

"We don't know what brought it on," Moran was quoted as saying. "We're facing an enemy in the dark."

'Times' Gives First News

First news of the murder of Edward Laurence Doheny, Jr., and the suicide of Theodore Hugh Plunkett, was published in The Times more than eight hours in advance of all competitive newspapers.

A two-column, page-length story, giving all the substantial details of the tragedy, appeared in The Times "extra," which appeared on the street at 5:30 a.m. yesterday.

The next newspaper did not appear until yesterday afternoon.

DOHENY MURDER INQUIRY DISCLOSES CONTROVERSY

Secretary Declared to Have Killed Employer and Self Following Debate on Latter's Health

Dist.-Atty. Fitts yesterday launched a sweeping investigation into events surrounding the slaying of Edward L. Doheny, Jr., late Saturday night by the latter's secretary, Theodore Hugh Plunkett, who later took his own life.

Doheny was killed by Plunkett in a first-floor guest chamber of the palatial Doheny mansion in Beverly Hills shortly before 11 p.m. A few minutes later the secretary was dead by his own hand.

The son of the millionaire oil king, E. L. Doheny, Sr., was shot through the head by a bullet from an old-fashioned revolver belonging to Plunkett. The wealthy young man's body was found lying on its back near one of the twin beds in the lavishly furnished chamber, an overturned chair near by.

BLOW GIVEN DOPE EVIL

International War Opens

Thirteen Nations in Accord Entered Into at Behest of United States

Co-operative Police Methods to be Employed Against Narcotic Dealers

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17. (Exclusive)—The dope evil has been given the most smashing blow yet delivered in the long and vigorous war waged against it. It now is to be attacked internationally.

Announcement was made at the State Department today that the United States has succeeded in getting an international agreement whereby thirteen nations will aid this country in efforts to stamp out drug consumption.

AGREEMENT INFORMAL

The agreement is informal. It has been made with Great Britain, Belgium, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, France, Germany, Greece, Italy, Japan, the Netherlands, Poland, Spain and Turkey. It involves the direct exchange of information by which it is hoped a struggle hold may be applied to the very throat of the drug traffic.

The agreement amounts to this: "The direct exchange between the Treasury Department and the corresponding office in the foreign country of information and evidence with reference to persons engaged in the illicit traffic. This would include such information as photographs, criminal records, fingerprints, Bertillon measurements, description of the methods which the persons in question have been found to use, the places from which they have operated, the partners they have worked with, etc."

MUTUAL CO-OPERATION

"The immediate direct forwarding of information by letter or cable as to the suspected movements of narcotic drugs, or of those involved in smuggling such movements might concern the other country. Unless such information as this reaches its destination speedily it is useless."

"Mutual co-operation in detective and investigating work."

Negotiations for the agreement began more than a year ago. They were initiated by the Treasury Department.

Probably one of the first moves will be made against the narcotic ring which dispenses its drugs through Antwerp, Belgium, on which is said to be the largest scale in all the illicit traffic.

Billions Change Hands by Death

NEW YORK, Feb. 17. (AP)—Some $5,150,000,000 changes hands in the United States annually through death. It is figured by Joseph S. McCoy, actuary of the Treasury Department. The sum represents 400,000 estates.

CHECK ON MARRIAGE URGED

Sage Foundation Proposes Bureau of Supervision, Five-Day Notice and Other Reforms

NEW YORK, Feb. 17. (AP)—Nine recommendations designed to correct what are termed "startling abuses" of marriage laws and practices were made today by the Russell Sage Foundation.

Statement by the Foundation said that while the recommendations do not refer to divorce, the adoption of the steps will "avoid many of the tragic results which courts of domestic relations and divorce courts record."

In urging proper enforcement of the present statutes and closer scrutiny of the candidates for marriage, the Foundation recommended the establishment of a marriage supervision bureau, a five-day notice of intention to marry before the license be issued, that the candidate obtain the license where the woman lives and abolition of the fee system for payment of persons who issue licenses.

The Foundation also urged that States now permitting girls of 12 years of age to marry with their parents' consent, raise the minimum age to 16. The abandonment of publicity as a means of establishing qualifications to marry was recommended with the suggestion that proof be obtained by testimony of reliable witnesses.

Complete records of marriages and better civil solemnization by requiring commissioned judges, limited in number, to turn marriage fees over to the city or county, was believed advisable, the Foundation report said, together with the establishment of marriage chapels, or courts to avoid "unseemly competition near license offices."

The clergy are asked to "develop the standards for religious solemnization through their ministerial associations and as individuals and through instruction in theological seminaries."

DOCTOR ASSERTS MADNESS CAUSED DOUBLE DEATH

He Tells Details of Trip to Home of Doheny After Phone Call and How Slayer Took Life

An insane fit drove Theodore Plunkett, personal secretary to E. L. Doheny, Jr., to kill the latter in the Doheny mansion, according to Dr. E. C. Fishbaugh, the Doheny family physician who was almost an eye witness to the double tragedy.

Dr. Fishbaugh revealed something of the close personal relationship and mutual high regard that existed between the two men. "They were like brothers," was back on the phone because the way the doctor phrased it.

Both Dr. Fishbaugh and Doheny for weeks had been urging Plunkett to take a rest—to go to a sanatorium or on an ocean trip; anything to get away from the job for a while.

CONFERENCE HELD
"We had a conference at the Doheny home yesterday (Saturday) afternoon," Dr. Fishbaugh said. "Mr. and Mrs. Doheny, Plunkett and I were there. We all urged Plunkett to take a rest. He refused. He simply sat there. Almost shaking at times. Hands clenched. Jaws set at times. He said he would come out of it all right. I could see it was no use to push him further and no I left."

"The next thing I knew about it, I was called from my seat at the theater and the maid at home told me Mr. Doheny had called and requested that I come out immediately. That I was not to call hard. And it seemed that he had no more than done that than there was a shot fired. I told Mrs. Doheny not to come in, but went in myself. I found Plunkett lying on the floor a few feet inside the door, his feet toward the door. He was shot through the head. He was not breathing.

"I quickly stepped into the guest room and saw Mr. Doheny stretched out on the floor near the foot of one of the twin beds. An overturned chair was near him. A pool of blood was near his head. He had been shot through the head. He was breathing, but unconscious. A telephone directory was lying on the bed opened to the page where my name is listed.

MRS. DOHENY STUNNED
"I stepped out into the hall where Mrs. Doheny stood and told her what I had found. She was stunned, naturally."

"Some one, I think it was she, called Mr. Lisk. Mrs. Doheny's brother-in-law, who lives next door. The Beverly Hills police were notified. Efforts were made to get in touch with Mr. Pitts.

"Do I think Plunkett was trying to escape when he came toward the door and saw him? No, I hardly think that. He heard us coming and could have gone the other way. I think he was insane. A fit of insanity seized him."

Dr. Fishbaugh said that, in his opinion, Plunkett shot Doheny as he, the doctor, was coming up the driveway. Mrs. Doheny said that she had heard a noise as if a piece of furniture falling just about that time.

As Dr. Fishbaugh recalled the circumstances yesterday he did not see a pistol in Plunkett's hand when the latter was coming toward them. At first, the doctor said, he thought he remembered seeing the gun, but believes now that the first time he saw the gun was when an officer turned a light on the body and the gun was lying near it.

SON WAS ACTIVE IN OIL BUSINESS

Doheny, Jr., Helped Control Holdings Worth Millions

Entered Trade Following His Graduation from U.S.C.

Service Seen in Washington and Navy During War

With millions of dollars literally in his lap on graduation from the University of Southern California in 1916, Edward Doheny, Jr., stepped into business with his father and at the time of his death was a guiding hand in the Petroleum Securities Company as vice-president and treasurer.

The assets of this company, constituting the holdings of Doheny, his father, other members of the family and associates, are understood in financial circles to represent more than $100,000,000.

The slain man was the only son of Edward Laurence Doheny, who resides at 4 Chester Place. The son also owned a town home next door to his father. Young Doheny's mother died several years ago and the father has since remarried.

Edward Laurence Doheny, Jr., was born in Los Angeles in 1894 and received his early schooling in a private Catholic school. He entered Stanford University in 1912 and remained there for his freshman year. While at Stanford he was initiated into the Beta Theta Pi Fraternity.

In June, 1913, Doheny was wed to Miss Lucy Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Henry Smith of 640 West Adams street.

He was the father of five children: Lucille Estelle, 14 years of age; Edward Laurence III, 12; William Henry, 10; Patrick Anson, 6; and Timothy Hugh, 3.

He also leaves two brothers-in-law, J. Clark Smith of 353 South Las Palmas avenue, who is associated with the United Pacific Securities Company, and C. Warren Smith of 4003 West Adams street, a vice-president in the Petroleum Securities Company, and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Anson Lisk, who resides in a palatial home adjacent to the Doheny home on the Beverly Hills ranch.

When the United States entered the World War, Doheny left luxury behind and joined the Navy. He was commissioned a senior lieutenant, first serving on the cruiser Huntington and later at Washington in the office of the Judge Advocate-General. He held a commission in the Naval Reserve at the time of his death.

The University of Southern California counted Doheny as one of its most wealthy alumni and one who took a material interest in the university's development.

He was a member of the Trojan Board of Trustees and made an endowment to the university in November, 1922, of $200,000. As first president of the Greater Alumni Association of Southern California he led its graduates for two years in 1922 and 1924.

PLUNKETT ROSE FROM TIRE JOB TO CONFIDANT OF RICH FAMILY

Theodore Hugh Plunkett was born in Kansas and came to Los Angeles with his parents in 1912. He first became acquainted with the family of E. L. Doheny, Sr., while he was employed as a tire changer at the W. H. Smith service station on Pico street, between Olive street and Grand avenue.

The service station was owned by the father of Lucy Smith, who was to become Mrs. E. L. Doheny, Jr.

Young Plunkett often repaired tires on the motors of Mr. Doheny's machines as he did also for the family of his employer. When his employer's daughter was married to E. L. Doheny, Jr., Plunkett was hired as a chauffeur by the latter.

He served as chauffeur for the elder Doheny and his son's family. Every confidence was placed in him and when the war came he enlisted and became a chief machinist's mate on a submarine chaser.

After the war he returned to the employ of the Dohenys. He became more and more in the confidence of the younger Doheny and in later years almost all of his time was devoted to his affairs.

According to George W. Johnson, business secretary of E. L. Doheny, Jr., and Mrs. Johnson, who is personal secretary to Mrs. Doheny, Jr., Plunkett was invited Saturday night to go to a picture show with them. He declined, but gave no reason, they said.

"Plunkett had become morose within the last two months," Mr. Johnson said. "I have never heard him say what troubled him. The one thing that appeared to be constantly on his mind was the trouble with his teeth. He had been treated numerous times by the Doheny dentist."

"Numerous operations had been made on his gums and he suffered intensely. Within the last month he had become extremely nervous and his hands and whole body would shake. He liked to go fishing, but recently he could not get his mind off of his teeth trouble. He would not go to the doctor until he almost forced him, or when he became so bad that he had to go to bed."

"He enjoyed all the confidences of the whole family

DOHENY RITES TOMORROW

Burial Will be in Temple of Santa Sabina, Purchased by Father of Dead Man

(Illustration on Picture Page)
Bishop John J. Cantwell of the Catholic Church will officiate at the funeral services for Edward L. Doheny, Jr., at 8 p. m. tomorrow, it was announced yesterday by the family. The burial will take place in the Temple of Santa Sabina which was purchased yesterday by the dead man's father. Detailed arrangements for the rites, however, had not been completed yesterday. The burial will be private.

The Temple of Santa Sabina, which stands on one of the prominent knolls of Forest Lawn Cemetery, is a magnificent structure. It is constructed of fine Italian marble, delicately tinted, and adorned by an inlay of gold mosaic. It was designed and executed by one of Italy's great sculptors to house the bones of Santa Sabina, a woman of the second century. It formerly stood in a garden one of the famous Villa Maletti in Rome and was brought here two years ago by the Pasadena Memorial Park Association to become a private mausoleum.

and he often had signed checks for Mr. Doheny totaling hundreds of thousands of dollars. He attended to most of the details of the new home and actually paid most of the contractors' bill with checks which he made out in Mr. Doheny's name."

At the Wilcox Hotel, 8504 Selma avenue, it was learned that Plunkett checked out almost a month ago. He told the hotel management that he was moving to new quarters at Doheny home.

Leaving the Wilcox Hotel, Plunkett moved to a new apartment at 618 Orange street, which he shared with personal friend, George W. Johnson. This apartment was occupied by Plunkett in a temporary way and only a few of his belongings were in the room. It was learned that he had been absent from the Doheny home for some time.

which was relayed by the latter's maid to a theater.

FATHER AND WIFE ILL

Becoming more enraged over the call for the physician, Plunkett is believed to have gone into a mad-dened frenzy and shot.

Officials say their investigation discloses that the secretary did not habitually carry a revolver and that he probably intended his action when he left his apartment for the Doheny home.

While officials are attempting to reconstruct the tragedy which struck one of the wealthiest families in America, Mr. Doheny, Sr., and the slain man's wife are said to be bearing up as well as can be expected under the circumstances.

Both are confined in the elder Doheny's ranch home which adjoins his son's on the Beverly Hills estate.

FATHER COLLAPSES

More than an hour elapsed after the tragedy before Mr. Doheny, Sr., was informed. He immediately walked across the short intervening distance between the two homes, and to the tragedy-ridden room.

The white-haired father, gazed down on his son lying in the disordered room, and collapsed. For a time it was feared the shock was too much for him. He recovered his composure, however, and assured friends that he would face the situation as stoically as he could.

Subsequent investigation and interrogation of members of the family disclosed that when Mrs. Doheny smilingly greeted Dr. Fishbaugh at the door of her home, which was opened by Night Watchman Morris, her husband lay dead at the hands of his secretary, unknown to her.

Mrs. Doheny, Jr., had heard the muffled report of the shot that killed her husband, but believed it to be an object of overturned furniture and thought nothing of the incident, she told Dr. Fishbaugh.

INSTANT DEATH

Almost instant death struck Plunkett when the bullet plowed through his brain, according to the physician. From the time he heard the shot until he reached the body was only a matter of seconds, yet the secretary was dead.

The death weapon fell from his hand when Plunkett fell and was found under his breast.

The body was lying partly on the left side. The right arm was stretched out and empty, while the left was doubled back down the side, and the lifeless fingers held a still smoldering, half-smoked cigarette. Before the cigarette was taken from the dead man's fingers it had burned a small portion of the skin.

Following the all-afternoon inquiry, and the questioning of members of the Doheny staff of servants, Dist. Atty. Fitts said: "This investigation is just an additional check on the information gathered early Sunday morning at the scene by Chief Investigator Wheeler and Identification Expert White from my office; Capt. Bright and his assistants from the Sheriff's office and Chief of Police Blair of Beverly Hills.

"So far there isn't a thing that has developed that detracts from the conclusions reached at that time. It is a case of murder and Suffering from the most terrible blow of his life, E. L. Doheny, Sr., 72-year-old father of the murdered man, was carrying his heaviest burden as well as possible last night, according to intimate friends.

"Mr. Doheny appears completely dazed over the entire matter, as does Mrs. Doheny, but no serious breakdowns are anticipated. Nothing on earth meant so much to the elder Doheny as the welfare of his only son, and he was completely wrapped up in his future," said a close family friend, who visited the home last night.

"The situation for the parents is horrible, but neither has needed the services of a physician and are remaining in seclusion at the Doheny Beverly ranch home. There may be a reaction that will cause concern, but at present both are doing as well as could be expected."

DEPEW ORATORY FUND PROVIDED

Income from $120,000 Given Washington University

Widow Outlines Purpose in Aiding Public Speaking

Members of Congress Will be Included as Students

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17. (AP)—Mrs. Chauncey M. Depew has given the income from $120,000 to George Washington University to endow, as a memorial to her late husband, a department of public speaking which will offer special courses for members of Congress, government officials and professional students looking forward to careers in public life.

Announcement of the gift was made today by Dr. Lloyd H. Marvin, president of the university. He said it will make possible the establishment next fall of a chair in public speaking, with an elaborate curriculum of elementary and advanced work in the art of public expression, including special classes for government officials.

PLANS TRACED

Mrs. Depew said today that she had been considering a memorial to her husband for some time since his death last April, but that the conception took definite form only after she moved here last October from New York. She has been attending sessions of Congress, and plans to make her permanent home here.

"I am giving the chair of public speaking to George Washington University as a memorial to my late husband," she said. "He was devoted to this capital, and during his terms as United States Senator frequently visited the university and delivered speeches there. I am confident he would be happy to have his memory perpetuated through this great university.

ment) will be established and maintained with the object of training and instructing those availing of its benefits in the art of public speaking and oratory in its various branches, in all of which my husband, in whose memory this gift is made, was during his long, eventful and useful life, the most eminent of his time."

Dr. Marvin said the new department will be developed in connection with the new school of government established at the university last fall under the terms of a $1,000,000 endowment. Eventually, he added, a separate school of public speaking probably will be instituted.

The gift will amount to about $6000 annually, it is estimated.

CHILD KIDNAPED AT PLAY

San Francisco Stirred by Disappearance of Girl; Mint Employee Seized as Suspect

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 17. (Exclusive)—Spurred by public indignation and horror that a child of four should be kidnaped from a public playground in broad daylight, police today combed the city in a fruitless search for 4-year-old Doris Virginia Smith-Murphy, who disappeared from the Margaret S. Hayward Playground at Jefferson Square Friday afternoon. They expressed the fear that the child might never be found alive.

"I'm afraid," said Captain of Detectives Matheson tonight, "that we will find the little girl's body in some basement in the neighborhood where she disappeared."

LURED BY MAN

"If we find no trace of the girl Monday," said Detective Sergeant Dolan, who has been heading the search, "we will have to decide that she is in the hands of a degenerate and will not be seen again."

Police today said the search for the girl and her abductor had been started promptly after the report of her disappearance was made by the Buch-street station. That report was made in routine form Saturday morning to the bureau of missing persons and the case put in the hands of Sgt. Dolan.

After a visit to the home of the girl and to the playground in Jefferson Square, from which she disappeared, the police learned that

CLARITY SOUGHT IN RIVER ISSUE

Upper States Draft List of Interpretations

Its Approval Will Restrict Scope of Debate

State Referendum Proposed in Arizona

SANTA FE (N. M.), Feb. 17. (Exclusive)—After a Sunday spent in visiting various Indian pueblos in Santa Fe and Taos districts of the State, at one of which an Indian dance was given for their benefit, Colorado River compact conference again turned their attention tonight to matters of business.

Several different plans are being worked out to speed up the work of the conference in an attempt to complete the task this week, if possible. It is deemed improbable that any sort of an agreement can be reached in that time and considerable doubt is being expressed that a tri-State compact will be drawn, no matter how long the conference lasts. A statement embodying all points raised by the upper-basin States now is being drawn. The statement, which interprets and clears up certain sections of the Boulder Dam Act is to be used as the basis for negotiating these points by California, Arizona and Nevada.

POINTS INVOLVED

The points involved (1) interpretation of the meaning of competitive centers, as applied to fixing power rates at Boulder dam; (2) the $25,000,000 flood-control charge, as fixed in the act, should not be reimbursable from surplus revenue from power sale; (3) no part of the reclamation fund should be taken for development of Boulder dam. It is the consensus of the upper-basin States to receive assurance on these points it is probable all of them, with the exception of one, will be agreed upon. The one point which is being debated is the question of the Boulder Dam Act, which is to be decided upon at a conference called by Col. William J. Donovan, the federal representative at the meeting and chairman of the tri-State commission.

Chairman Donovan is doing everything he can to speed things up. He has listened to discussions of all sides on the matter of distribution and allocation problems, but the conference has not yet entered on the phase of power discussion. One condition of the points to the possibility of a six-State compact being drawn up and later replaced with a seven-State compact, is the report that is understood to have come from the Arizona delegation that their Legislature will not take the responsibility of ratifying a compact, even should that State commission here agree on a pact with California and Nevada.

REFERENDUM PROPOSED

It is reported that Arizona intends to put the whole problem up to the voters in a referendum. If this is true, and it generally is believed here, there would be little chance of ratification of any pact by Arizona within a year or more. Also if it is true, there seems to be little need of the other States delaying any legislative or other official action they may be contemplating taking.

The delegates from California, Nevada and Arizona virtually are agreed that settlement of the water differences is quite likely to be reached, but the hardest task ahead of the parley this week will be to satisfy Arizona's demands on the power to be developed at Boulder dam. It is admitted freely that Arizona will not be contented with the 18 to 24 per cent of the surplus revenues from sale of power at the dam as stipulated in the Boulder Dam Act. That State is seeking guarantees from California and Nevada that will produce a return to Arizona from the taxation of the property, as well as from the sale of power.

TO SPEED DISCUSSION

Chairman Donovan, thus far, has permitted representatives from all States to carry on a free-for-all discussion. This has resulted in a great waste of time as many points that are not controversial have been discussed. Now the chairman proposes, starting Monday, to lead the discussion into channels such that only controversial points will be talked over.

He plans to begin Monday to have one delegate from each lower-basin State meet in a special conference early in the day and map out the line of discussion for that day. In that way, he feels, much that motion will be eliminated, and the more serious points of controversy will come up for immediate consideration. This same subcommittee will decide also on any phases of the Boulder Dam Act that may be eliminated from consideration at this time.

NEWARK, N. J., MADE AIR MAIL TERMINUS

NEWARK (N. J.) Feb. 17. (AP)—With appropriate ceremonies attended by 50,000 persons, Newark Metropolitan Airport today became the eastern terminus of the air-mail service of the United States. The transfer from Hadley Field, New Brunswick, N. J., which brings the mail about thirty miles nearer New York, was ordered by the post-office authorities.

ARMS PARLEY HOPES RISE

British Foreign Office Communique Interpreted as Good Sign in Anglo-American Relations

LONDON, Feb. 17. (AP)—Although a section of the British press viewed the Foreign Office statement Saturday as a disclaimer of Sir Eme Howard's analysis of the Anglo-American naval situation as outlined by the British Ambassador in Washington last week, prospects for an early resumption of the disarmament discussions are bright.

This view is supported by the authoritative Sunday Observer, which says two events have served to emphasize the British government's activity in this connection. One event was Sir Eme's Washington statement (in which he held forth the possibility of an early rapprochement between the two countries looking to a naval armament parley) and the other was the Foreign Office communique yesterday, which stated there has been no change in the situation since Sir Austen Chamberlain informed the House of Commons that the British government is engaged in a careful examination of all questions concerning Britain's relations with America.

HARMONY IMPORTANT

Declaring that "Anglo-American harmony is a cardinal condition to all human progress in our time," the Observer, one of the leading exponents of Anglo-American understanding, declared the British government's declaration of the Foreign Office announcement that the British government is pursuing a general examination of Anglo-American relations "will be received with profound relief on both sides of the Atlantic."

The Associated Press reliably is informed that yesterday's announcement was not intended as a repudiation of Ambassador Howard's statement. It is known here that Sir Eme merely was predicting his government's action along the lines which he knows the present policy is shaping itself. On the other hand, the Foreign Office statement merely declared the time has not arrived for an official announcement regarding the next move contemplated.

The communique was made necessary first by confused reports of the British Ambassador's statement as received by English newspapers and secondly to forestall criticism in the House of Commons next week such as already has been voiced in some sections of the British press because intimations of the progress the British government is making toward a new disarmament policy was not first published here.

PROMPTNESS PRAISED

Continuing its approval of the trend of Anglo-American affairs, the Observer declares: "The promptness with which the British Ambassador at Washington has conveyed his government's suggestion to the United States is as commendable as the last time he delayed in conveying the suggestion while the cruiser bill was before Congress. It was eminently right as well as expedient that London should have decided its cruiser program for then there could be no suspicion that London was attempting to influence the decision."

"It is equally wise to have informed Washington that the suggested negotiations will be based on the assumption that the fifteen cruiser bill will be built. To that extent one of the lessons of 1927 has been learned, to wit, that America has the right to build as she will, and that American needs as interpreted by America, must be taken for granted as much as British needs, interpreted by Britain."

WHITTIER MAN SLAIN IN ARIZONA

Asserted Killer Held in Jail for Murder and Theft of Victim's Automobile

BISBEE (Ariz.), Feb. 17. (AP)—Charles Foster, 30 years of age, from Pennsylvania, is in the County Jail at Tombstone tonight charged with first-degree murder for the slaying of Mike Baker, 22, believed to be from Whittier, Cal., who was shot to death while he was driving a car on the highway near Tombstone. Foster was caught in Lordsburg, N. M., early today while driving eastward in Baker's car.

An admitted killer, Baker was declared by Sheriff George Henshaw to have been made by Foster, who is quoted as saying he shot the man while he slept shortly after midnight Saturday. The body was found late Saturday by Hans Larsen, rancher, whom Foster had called to aid him in starting the car.

Group of Clergy Issues Plea for Dry Law Change

NEW YORK, Feb. 17. (AP)—The Church Temperance Society, said to represent the opinion of 1500 Protestant Episcopal clergymen, tonight issued a statement in which it called for changes in the prohibition laws.

The statement said that if modification of the Volstead law is not enough to bring temperance, it ultimately will be necessary to amend the Eighteenth Amendment so as to permit the introduction of the Canadian system of liquor control in those States where it is in vogue. The society, whose right to speak for the church was challenged last May by Bishop Manning, admitted that it is not an official organization, but said it was "an important Episcopal institution" and that 1500 Episcopal clergymen had offered to co-operate in a move for practical temperance.

Clashes Again Imminent in Chaco District

ARANCION (Paraguay) Feb. 17. (AP)—Dispatches received from the Chaco district, where clashes between Paraguayan and Bolivian troops a few months ago threatened to result in warfare, indicate that Bolivian patrols again are making frequent incursions into the disputed territory. It is believed at Paraguayan rear-guard forts that new clashes may result.

Chinese Lift Radio Embargo

NANKING, Feb. 17. (AP)—The Nationalist government today announced lifting of the embargo on imports of radios, parts and accessories which will be permitted in the future without restriction upon payment of the specified tariffs.

The embargo, placed by the Peiking government ten years ago, has retarded radio development in China, which the Nationalist government now aims to speed up.

THREE KILLED ON TRIP TO DYING RELATIVE

CHICAGO, Feb. 17. (AP)—A Chicago and Northwestern passenger train crashed into an automobile bearing members of the family of Salvatore Cascino to the bedside of a dying relative here today, killing three and injuring the other three. The dead are Mary, 22 years of age; Tony, 11, and Virginia, 17. Mr. and Mrs. Cassano and Marion, 18, another son, were seriously injured.

LINDBERGH DUE ON COAST NEXT

Colonel Reaches Washington and Reveals Plans

Transcontinental Air Line Route Will be Taken

Inspection Trip Will Start Within Next Few Days

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17. (AP)—After bad flying weather had caused him to land for two overnight stops in North and South Carolina on his flight from Miami, Fla., Col. Charles A. Lindbergh arrived at Bolling Field here at 3:22 p.m. today.

The colonel came here from Langley Field, Va., where he had made a stop for lunch. He left Langley Field at 2:25 p.m. and was accompanied to Washington by Col. C. Culver, the Virginia field's commander.

Lindbergh had flown during the morning to Langley Field from Hatteras, N. C., taking off there at 9:25 o'clock. He had remained overnight in Hatteras after encountering bad weather in flying from Charleston, S. C. He had spent Friday night at the South Carolina city after he had started from Miami to Washington and had run into a heavy rainstorm and thick, cloudy weather.

In contrast on the last lap of his flight today he encountered fine weather and a southerly breeze which he flew in his fast Falcon biplane.

An interview shortly after his arrival, Lindbergh announced that he will leave within a few days on an inspection trip to the Pacific Coast over the proposed route of the transcontinental Air Transport Company.

This route will take him through Columbus, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Kansas City, Wichita, Weymouth, Okla., Clovis and Albuquerque, N. M., Winslow and Kingman, Ariz., and Los Angeles. He said he does not know whether he will make stops at all of these points.

ROUTE EXPLAINED

He explained that the service on the T.A.T. company will be divided into eastern and western divisions. Columbus and Weymouth will be the eastern and western termini of the eastern division, respectively, with the latter city the junction point with the Santa Fe Railroad.

Clovis and Los Angeles will be the western termini of the western division. Between the two divisions, or from Weymouth to Clovis, passengers will be carried on the Santa Fe. From Columbus east passengers will be carried on the Pennsylvania Railroad to New York. No mail or freight will be handled for the present.

Later the aviation line may be extended to San Francisco from Los Angeles, Lindbergh added.

Charles Foster, 30 years of age, from Pennsylvania, is in the County Jail at Tombstone tonight charged with first-degree murder for the slaying of Mike Baker, 22, believed to be from Whittier, Cal., who was shot to death while he was driving a car on the highway near Tombstone. #### Summing up commercial advantages to be gained by refueling in flight, Maj. Spatz said:

"The experiments in connection with the Question Mark undoubtedly prove transcontinental and transoceanic flights without landing. It also is well to point out that refueling in flight makes for greater speed in commercial operation. Under present conditions at least one-half hour is lost landing, taking on fuel and take-off. By refueling in flight this half-hour for each stop can be eliminated.

"The transfer of mails across the continent now can be speeded up at least six hours by refueling in flight.

"Refueling makes for greater safety in flying in unfavorable weather. When refueling has been developed to a point where refueling planes are located at frequent intervals throughout the country, and when radio is carried by transport planes, it will be possible to fly around bad weather conditions and ask for fuel in flight."

HOOPER LEAVES FOR WASHINGTON TODAY

MIAMI BEACH (Fla.) Feb. 17. (AP)—President-elect Hoover spent his last night tonight at No. 3 Belle Isle before starting back to Washington for his inauguration March 4.

Accompanied by Mrs. Hoover and a party of nearly fifty he will leave Miami at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow on a special train which will make only necessary operating stops en route. Invitations for the next Chief Executive to attend short demonstrations at Jacksonville and other cities have been declined.

DEATH CALLS CHEMIST

SPLENDOR SET FOR INAUGURAL

Event to be Outstanding in American History

Hoover's Modest Demands May be Exceeded

Four-Mile Parade Will be Gorgeous Pageant

BY ROBERT B. ARMSTRONG

"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17. (Exclusive)—Washington, rapidly taking on a holiday appearance, will give Herbert Hoover what probably will be the greatest inauguration of all time.

Official plans divulged by the inaugural committee in charge, indicate that the President-elect's modest limitations may be exceeded in the local desire to make the ceremony as notable as possible.

There will be military and aviation displays, a four-mile-long parade of 20,000, elaborately decorated courts of honor, an inaugural ball lacking only the presence of the new President to give it full status and other functions that are expected to attract thousands of visitors.

When Mr. Hoover subscribes to the oath of office by the Quaker "affirmation" before Chief Justice Taft on March 4, next, it will be the first inaugural ceremony in which two ex-presidents have been present and it will be the first in which the incoming President's acceptance and inaugural address will have been recorded in sound pictures.

NATION-WIDE HOOK-UPS

No other ceremony of the kind ever has been broadcast as will that on March 4. Everything except television will be used to apprise the people at home and abroad of each and every detail of the ceremony as the great panorama unfolds.

There will be two national radio hook-ups and short-wave stations will carry the descriptive broadcast abroad. Photographs will be flashed by telegraph wires. Sound pictures will be made for addition on the same night in New York, Philadelphia and other eastern cities. Newspaper arrangements have never been so elaborate.

In short, says the committee, "the inaugural will be 'covered' with such height of adequacy as science and invention will permit."

The air spectacle is to be made as significant as possible of the latest air strides of America. Fifty or more planes, led by the dirigible Los Angeles and the endurance plane Question Mark, are to make up the overhead caravan. Lindbergh and other air heroes will have a part in this part of the program, if plans work out.

FOUR-MILE PARADE

Below, a "four-mile" parade will mark the induction. The Presidential parties and their escorts will head it, and the remainder will be composed of army, navy and marine troops, veterans' organizations, the Coast Guard, the army band and marine band, R.O.T.C. units, military bands, the governors of States and their escorts, consisting chiefly of cavalry, State marching clubs, auto caravans, contingents of the triumphant Hoovers, former associates of Hoover in the food administration and European relief organizations, Indians and cowboys from the Dakotas and Oklahoma, file and drum corps and according to the committee, "other entries representing the 'life and work of the people.'"

Washington is trying to make the inauguration a "three-day observance" by holding a variety of other functions. There will be an official reception and luncheon to visiting governors on March 3 with thirty or more State executives attending. On two afternoons there will be air circuses over the city, as well as riding circuses by the cavalry troops. Fort Myer concerts, lectures, State reunions and officially arranged tours to historic spots.

NOTABLES TO ATTEND

Washington insists there shall be no profusion. Although hotel accommodations long ago were taken up, a special committee has arranged for lodging for upward of 30,000 persons, and promises rooms at from $3 to $6.

Individuals who will command interest in the proceedings, besides the principals, are young John Coolidge, who has seen little of White House life, but who will witness the retirement of his father in the cavalry and uniform of a major on the staff of Gov. Trumbull of Connecticut, J. W. Reeder of Tipton, Iowa, the 52-year-old voter for Lincoln and Hoover who will be "hat holder" for the incoming executive; Mrs. Mollie Carran, Hoover's one-time school-teacher out of the tall corn grows, and many others.

Two former presidents, Coolidge and Taft, will be at Hoover's side when he takes the oath, the first time that a President has stood beside two predecessors.

For comfort and protection of visitors, Congress has appropriated $27,000 for extra seating and for public comfort stations. A corps of 250 plain-clothes men from New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore will supplement the Washington police force.

Special information booths will be established at important points; all incoming visitors will be greeted and a special bus service from the Union Station to housing addresses will insure that no visitor strays.

SEVEN Reasons Why THE THOMAS' are THE WORLD'S GREATEST HAIR AND SCALP SPECIALISTS

They positively grow hair! In many cases of baldness they have produced a growth of natural hair. They and dandruff, stop falling hair, and correct all abnormal scalp disorders.

They treat 37% of all persons being treated in the United States and Canada by specialists for scalp disorders. In 1927 they successfully administered 321,562 treatments in their various offices.

They have forty-five offices throughout the country all in charge of skilled specialists who do nothing but examine and treat all external scalp disorders which led to or have caused baldness.

For fifteen years they have successfully administered the Thomas' Original Discovery for baldness. This treatment is often imitated, but because secret formulae are a part of it, it can only be given in a Thomas' office.

They are scalp specialists you can trust. If after a careful examination of your scalp they feel that they can do you no good, they will frankly tell you. Last year 1,732 applications for treatment were refused.

Because of their ability to consistently grow hair and live up to their advertised claims, they have been granted exclusive legal and moral right by the U. S. Patent Office to use the slogan, "We Grow Hair."

They treat men in all walks of life, including physicians, bankers, dentists, U. S. army officers, congressmen, actors, etc. Let them help you regain your natural head of hair. No charge for examination. Come to today.

The Story of the World War XXXVII—The Race to the Sea.

IN AN EFFORT TO DISLODGE THE ENEMY BY FRONTAL ATTACKS, BOTH GERMANS AND ALLIES SENT TROOPS NORTHWARD, EACH SEEKING TO OUT-FLANK THE OTHER. BETWEEN ARRAS AND THE NORTH SEA STRETCHED AN UNOCCUPIED GAP WHICH BECAME THE GOAL OF THE CONTENTIOUS RACE.

BOTH SIDES EXTENDED THEIR TRENCHES TO THE NORTH AS THEY RAN THE RISK OF THE RIFLE IN THE OPEN FIELD OF THE SEA.

MIDWICK POLOISTS DEFEAT RANCHO SAN CARLOS

Cub Advance Guard Arrives at Catalina Island

WHEN THE PURPLE HORSEMEN STOPPED TOMMY HITCHCOCK

The world's greatest player bit off more than he could chew yesterday at the Midwick Country Club. Tommy endeavored to lead his Rancho San Carlos riders to a victory over a Midwick team captained by Winston Guest, second highest rating player in polo, but his team-mates fell down on their jobs and Midwick walked off with the game. Hitchcock is caught by the camera on the defensive, something new for Tommy. Eric Pedley on the left and Winston Guest on the right of Tommy are pressing Hitchcock hard as he drives the ball back up the field. (Photo by Carroll.)

HITCHCOCK ON LOSING SQUAD

Purple Horsemen Win Title by 9-7 Score

Guest and Pedley Star for Victorious Four

Record Crowd Watches High Goal Stars Play

BY FRANK ROCHE

It is a rare day, indeed, when the polo team that the incomparable Tommy Hitchcock plays on, has to take one on the chin.

But such a day was yesterday at the Midwick Country Club field. While 13,000 Southland fans jammed every nook and cranny of the field looked on, the great Tommy and his Rancho San Carlos poloists bowed to the superior polo playing of a Midwick Country Club four captained by Winston Guest, by a 9-to-7 score.

Guest, who ranks second to Tommy in polo circles, and young Eric Pedley, the White Knight of west coast polo, were the main reasons that Tommy's team bowed their heads in defeat in one of the most thrilling games of polo ever staged on the Midwick field.

It wasn't Tommy's fault that his team lost yesterday. Hitchcock was a polo champion at all times, but he couldn't do it all, and his team-mates, Willie Tavis, Jack Whitney and Averil Harriman, were about as much help as wooden soldiers during a greater part of the game.

Teris played Tommy's position when he should have been taking care of the goal-tending job. Harriman was away off his regular game, and Whitney was nothing to write the authorities about.

PEDLEY STARS

On top of that, Guest, Pedley and Laddie Sanford played a cracking game of polo for the Midwick team. Pedley never looked better in his life. Young Eric was in on top of Hitchcock throughout the tilt and time after time Pedley got a big hand from the bleachers when he got the ball from the famous American ace.

Chicago Batterymen Arrive for Spring Training

Wrigley and Joe McCarthy Nurse Pennant Hopes

Gabby Hartnett and Bride Showered With Rice

BY BOB RAY

Led by "Jigger Joe" McCarthy, their fighting Irish manager, the advance guard of the Chicago Cubs arrived at Catalina Island yesterday all ready to begin training today for a season which they hope will wind up with them in the world's series.

Skipper McCarthy was in a cheerful mood as he walked down the gangplank to greet his boss, William Wrigley, Jr., whose only worry about the Cubs now is how he's going to ward off all his friends who will want world's series tickets this fall when the Chicago park will only take care of about 40,000 fans.

As is usually the case when the Cubs arrive out here in the spring, Gabby Hartnett, peppy catcher, was the "big noise" of the party, but this time he had to share at least half of the limelight with his brand new bride. Mr. and Mrs. Hartnett are making the trip their honeymoon and the Cub players and the steamship Catalina orchestra gave the newlyweds a reception as they got on the boat yesterday. Guy Bush, Cub pitcher, showed that he has plenty of control by knocking Gabby's hat off with a paper sack full of rice, while the orchestra played "Here Comes the Bride."

Included in the Cub advance guard were the following players: Pitchers Guy Bush, Mike Cuyler, Hal Carlson, Snipe Hansen, Ed Holley, Sheriff Blake, Bob Osborn,

ERNIE NEVERS QUILTS JOB ON STANFORD GRID STAFF

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 17. (AP)—Ernie Nevers, Stanford's all-American football star, has resigned as an assistant coach at his Alma Mater and hereafter will devote his time entirely to professional baseball. Nevers, a pitcher with the San Francisco Missions of the Coast League, reports for spring training tomorrow at Stockton. As assistant baseball coach at Stanford he would have had to stay on the campus for a couple of months yet.

Turnout of Almost Fifty Athletes Expected to Greet Oscar Vitt on San Diego Diamond

BY BOB RAY

Hollywood's hustling Stars, who furnished a lot of excitement for Coast League fans in both halves of last year's race, turn out fifty strong today at San Diego to begin spring training and get in shape to provide a few more thrills for cash customers in Harry A. Williams's thriving baseball circuit.

Bill Lane and Oscar Vitt, owner and manager of the Shells, will be on hand to greet the record turnout of baseball players.

Performers at the Border City and the Hollywood wood bosses are confident they'll put a team in the race that will give all concerned a tough battle this season.

Vitt and Lane motored down to San Diego yesterday and announced before they left that they plan to put the athletes

MORRISON, HUNTER WIN OVER VON ELM, DR. HUNTER, 1 UP IN FRASER EXHIBITION PLAY

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

"Wee Willie" Hunter and "Big" Fred Morrison yesterday defeated Dr. Paul Hunter and George Von Elm, 1 up, in an exhibition - hole played at the Annandale Country Club for the benefit of the Chick Fraser, former Midwick Country Club professional.

The match was the second staged for Fraser locally, and was arranged by Jack Malley, Annandale pro, who was formerly assistant to Fraser at Midwick. Some 150 fans galled the match.

Dr. Hunter, one of the finest amateur golfers ever developed in Southern California and former president of the California Golf Association, shot a 72, which was duplicated by "Wee Willie," president of the Southern California P.G.A. Von Elm and Morrison shot 75's.

It was a battle of the Hunters throughout. Dr. Hunter started the match by birdieing the first two holes, but the Montebello Park pro squared the match on the fourth and fifth holes with consecutive birdies. Morrison, Midwick Country Club professional, birdied the seventh and the professionals rounded the turn, 1 up.

"Wee Willie's" par 4 on the fourteenth hole was good enough to win the hole. Dr. Hunter won the seventeenth with a 3, but halved the eighteenth and Morrison and Hunter won, 1 up.

The cards:
Par (Out) ..... 454 444 443-36—

The loss for the leaders does not materially affect their league title chances but the victory went down as one of the most popular ones ever registered on the Venice Boulevard field. L.A.A.C. had an easy time winning

The Times Golf Association will stage a tournament at the Sunset Fields public golf course today, according to an announcement from Ray Bell, president.

LARGE ENTRY EXPECTED FOR ORANGE SHOW TOURNEY

Judging from the large number of entries for the first annual orange show 18-hole open golf tournament which have already been received by Mr. J. G. Knapp, chairman of the tournament committee, all indications point to the event being one of the largest tournaments of its kind in the Southern California area. The event is scheduled to commence on Friday, the 22nd, at the Orange Show grounds, 7 to 9 to 13 and 14 to 18 with low gross and low net prizes for each class. Entrants can play the thirty-six holes to suit their convenience, playing either eighteen on Friday or eighteen on Saturday, or thirty-six on either day. The open tournament will start on Saturday morning, with the first group of eighteen holes qualifying and the low sixty-four to continue in thirty-six holes on Sunday. It was announced yesterday by the committee that amateurs with handicaps of seven and under who find it impossible to play on Friday, will be permitted to use their eighteen holes score on Saturday as part of their thirty-six holes play for the invitation tournament and the first eighteen holes on Sunday will count in their thirty-six holes.

A partial list of the entries, which includes both amateurs and professionals, follows:

The Cow Can't Give Milk Unless You Feed Her

The Sunday Times during January averaged 163,000 agate lines of news and other editorial matter per issue.

For every penny of subscription cost, Times subscribers on Sunday received 54,000 agate lines of editorial matter—as against 10,000 lines per penny in the newspaper that rates lowest in reader-value.

Now a cow isn't the only thing that responds to the rule, if you want to take out, you must keep putting in.

Every business—whether a store, factory or newspaper—operates on the law:—Good rich food, makes good rich milk!

The food that counts in the newspaper business is value to readers.

Advertisers who look beneath the surface will be interested in the following tables:

DECLARED MAINSTAY ALL HUMAN PROGRESS

Church Speaker Says Men Have Led Believed More Than They Could Know

It is the faith of the pivot and inspiration of all human progress, said Dr. Brown, in his sermon at South Park Christian church, that "however much the unbeliever may doubt, he is compelled to walk by faith instead of by sight."

When money talks, it is the faith of the pivot and inspiration of all human progress, said Dr. Brown, in his sermon at South Park Christian church, that "however much the unbeliever may doubt, he is compelled to walk by faith instead of by sight."

RELIGION DECLARED

FRIEND OF ALL TRUTH

Preaching yesterday at the Universalist Church on "Religious Problems Raised by Advancing Intelligence," Dr. Brown declared that while advancing intelligence is one of the glories of the human race, it raises problems in every phase of life. He said in part:

"Religion is no precious experience to every devotee that trembles with fear at the thought of its loss. Sometimes the advancing of worldly wisdom seems to lack the cities of religion, and the fearful truth the proper defense of religion is resistance to new concepts and new ways of looking at things. But religion can never be defeated. It is enthroned in the heart of humanity. There its scepter will always be wielded, its kingdom increase. No truth can be the foe of religion."

There are no bargains in health

Forhan's for the gums

To safeguard precious health and preserve your teeth, avoid the use of the old-fashioned toothbrush. It is the only modern way of preventing disease that attacks neglected gums, robbing and often causing loss of teeth. This disease is the most serious for only dental care can stem its advance when it is contracted.

Brush your teeth regularly. But don't forget that teeth are only as healthy as the gums. So brush gums vigorously, morning and night, with the dentifrice made for the purpose, Forhan's for the Gums. It helps to keep them firm and sound.

After you have used Forhan's for a few days you'll notice a vast improvement in the way your gums look and feel—firmer, sounder—thus strong enough to resist disease. Also you'll find that Forhan's cleans teeth and helps to protect them from decay.

There are no bargains in health. Get a tube of Forhan's from your druggist and start using it today.

The "Maty Pickford Coquette Special"

The "Maty Pickford Coquette Special" will pull out of the Santa Fe station at 1 p.m. tomorrow, taking homeward the twenty-five newspaper women and the twenty-five contest winners, who have been Miss Pickford's guests for a week.

The train will carry the girls to Chicago, from which point they will go their separate ways to the cities which they represented.

Yesterday afternoon the girls were the guests of Miss Pickford at a tea on the lawn at Pickfair, with Miss Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks as host and hostess.

Today they are to be luncheon guests of the officials of the Paramount-Famous Players-Lasky company at the studio.

This afternoon they are to be entertained with a swimming party at the Ambassador Hotel plunge. This evening the party of fifty is to be separated into two groups. The twenty-five girls' contest winners will go to a theater party at the Chinese Theater as the guests of Sid Grauman. The newspaper women are to be honor guests at a dinner at the Roosevelt Hotel, with women of the newspapers of Los Angeles and Hollywood.

SOCIETY

JUANA NEAL LEVY

It still is rather early for the exodus to the Riviera and Egypt and with scores of well-known Americans already arrived much ahead of time, Paris is experiencing an unusual social activity for this season of the year.

Mrs. George Ochs entertained last week at her home in the Avenue Bosquet with the first of a series of luncheon parties. Her guests included the Minister of Sweden and Countess Ehrenborg, Gen. and Mrs. William Wright Harts of the American Embassy, Mrs. Laurence V. Benet, formerly of Kentucky, and Mr. and Mrs. Armitage Smith. Mrs. Le Grand Benedict invited a few friends informally for tea at her residence in the Rue Des Bordes Valmore last week. Among them were Mrs. Norman Armour, whose husband is counselor of the American Embassy; Mrs. George M. Steele, wife of the naval attaché, and her mother, Mrs. Alexander Ramsey Thompson, Mrs. Frederick W. Beekman, Mrs. Henry Downe and Mrs. Henry Roosevelt.

Some of the guests from Mrs. Benedict's went on to another small tea at the Comtesse de Lambert's, who has taken an apartment in the Rue Barbet-de-Jour, in a neighborhood rapidly becoming American. The Comtesse de Lambert was Mrs. Elizabeth Kohl of California and before that Miss Cody.

Mrs. George Benjamin, who recently moved to a new apartment in the Avenue Charles Floquet, is giving a series of small luncheons. One of the most interesting American hostesses in the French capital is Mrs. George M. Steele, Jr., wife of the naval attaché. In spite of increased activity resulting from the return of Ambassador Herrick and her preparations for their annual Riviera sojourn, Capt. and Mrs. Steele found time last week to capture a visiting lion and regale him with the choicest of food, guests and conversation. At luncheon in their home in the Rue Pierre le Doré, which was the property of the late Baron Hottinguer, their guests included Col. Robert R. McCormick, Gen. William Harts, United States military attaché, and Mrs. Harts, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Milligan of Pittsburgh, Miss Helen Pratt and Warden Wilson, also of the Embassy.

Mrs. Walter V. Cotchett gave a last week at her apartment in the Quai d'Orsay for the members of the board of governors of the American Women's Club and a group of French and American friends. One of the most interesting features of the program was the reading of two of her plays by Mrs. Maxwell Parker of Detroit, who is visiting her brother-in-law and sister in Paris.

Paul McCool, talented young pianist of Santa Barbara, who has been in the American Hospital in Neuilly-sur-Seine, France, for several days, will remain there for another week, although he is reported to be rapidly convalescing.

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

Every Tuesday and Friday at 1:30 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

CHEESE CROQUETTES

Three tablespoons of butter, three-fourths of a cupful of milk, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of paprika, one teaspoonful of salt, one and one-half cupfuls of grated cheese, one-third of a cupful of flour, the yolks of two eggs, one cupful of cracker crumbs. Melt the butter, add the flour, salt and paprika, add the milk and cook until a very thick sauce is formed, stirring constantly; then add the beaten egg yolks and cheese and cook for one minute. Allow to cool, take small portions of the cheese mixture, roll in the bread crumbs, then in the egg whites that have been beaten slightly with a tablespoonful of water. Again in the crumbs, shape in small egg-shaped croquettes, cook in deep hot shortening until a delicate brown, drain and serve.

BAKED INDIAN PUDDING

Four cupfuls of milk, one-half cupful of seeded raisins, one-half a cupful of cornmeal, three tablespoons of butter, three eggs, one teaspoonful of salt, a half a cupful of sugar, bring the milk to a boil in a double boiler, gradually stir in the cornmeal, stirring constantly. Add the salt, sugar and cook for fifteen minutes. Beat the eggs, add to them one-half a teaspoonful of ginger, add the melted butter and raisins, remove from the fire, add the well-beaten eggs, stirring in slowly. Pour in an oiled baking dish and bake for one hour. Serve with a lemon sauce.

Barbara has arrived in Paris and is staying at the Hotel de Crillon. Cairo is filling up rapidly and is unusually gay for this time of the year. Recent arrivals at Shephard's Hotel from California include Mrs. M. L. Burnett, Mrs. Gertrude Niel of Palo Alto.

Alfred Charles Dodman of Santa Barbara, who has been in Germany, was a recent visitor to Berlin, where he registered at the Hotel Bristol.

The steamer Hamburg-America liner Resolute has reached Villefrance, France, on her sixth trip around the world. Among the passengers who have been traveling in Germany, was a recent visitor to Berlin, where he registered at the Hotel Bristol.

At the tea-dance held last week at the American Women's Club of Paris there was a large attendance. Members entertaining large parties included Mrs. Fae Belle Goen of Los Angeles.

Mrs. N. P. Rood and Miss Marion Bryce of Pasadena, who have been traveling in Italy, were recent arrivals in Bologna, where they stopped at the Hotel Electra.

FRIED CAULIFLOWER SALAD

Remove the outer leaves from a firm head of cauliflower, wash well and boil until just tender, drain, cool and cut in even-sized slices as possible, dip in beaten egg, then in bread or cracker crumbs and fry in hot shortening. Thoroughly chill, place on salad plates on a bed of watercress or shredded lettuce, and pour over a dressing made by mixing one-half a cupful of sour cream with the strained juice of half a lemon, two tablespoons of oil, a dash of salt and a dash of paprika. Garnish with slices of pickle.

CREAMED SCALLOPED SALMON, WITH NUTS, PEPPERS AND OLIVES

Make a thick white sauce with butter, flour and milk. Flake a pound of salmon, removing skin and bones, add to it one finely chopped green pepper and let the fish and pepper cook together in a double boiler, gradually stir in the white sauce, cut up and add one-half a cupful of ripe olives and add to the salmon with a seasoning of salt and paprika. Just before placing in individual ramekins add one-half a cupful of chopped walnuts. Cover with buttered bread crumbs, set in a pan of hot water, place in the oven, until the crumbs are browned.

"By destroying the very fundamental appeal, the silent message which would be understood without words, which made the moving picture the world's greatest entertainment, the present talkie craze is running the foundation and entire structure of an industry which has been fifteen years in the building," Robert Rayner of Hollywood, for many years a director of silent ro-Goldwyn-Mayer, who is stopping at the Hotel George V in Paris, told the French newspaper men last week.

CHILD

SOMETHING IMPROPER

By Mrs. Agnes Lyons

Freddie, aged 6 years, electrified the neighborhood by walking home from school one hot spring day quite naked, with his clothes hung over his arm. The worthy citizens were outraged. The police department was stern. Freddie was forcibly clothed and reached his mother's door under a stiff escort.

Freddie's mother was wiser than most. She made no scene. She was not surprised, she was not shocked, she was not grieved, she was not angry. There were no fireworks. Freddie's reason for taking off his clothes was in truth that he was too hot. It was made clear to him that such a method of making himself more comfortable was henceforth forbidden. But if his motive was the desire to do something extraordinary, in order to get attention his mother gave him none of the satisfaction he sought.

When the child outrages the proprieties the best way to deal with him is in just the unemotional manner of Freddie's mother. If he is unconscious of the nature of his misdeeds, his mother's disapproval is punishment and deterrent enough. A moral lecture would be meaningless to him. If he has misbehaved in order to get attention, violent denunciation of any sort will only give him exactly what he wants and will certainly offer him an inducement to repeat the offense.

The Fabric That Defies the Fire Though commercially merely fifty years old, it was known to the ancients. The Greeks called it "the uncombustible," whilst the Tartars and the Austrians were aware of its strange, fiber-like rock that could nevertheless be woven like wool and could withstand fire.

The earliest known use was for the shrouds of kings, whose dead bodies were wrapped in asbestos cloth, so that their ashes might be kept separate from those of the funeral pyre.

It is said that Charlemagne possessed a tabcloth of asbestos, and when a feast was over, he took pride in having his guests by ordering the cloth to be thrown into the fire—to bleach it!

CHILD'S DIET ALL IMPORTANT

Mrs. G. K. D. writes: "You have helped me before so I am coming again. In order to regulate the baby's bowels I have used, at doctor's orders, a suppository for six months, without results. He gets his fruit and vegetables as outlined in your feeding leaflet. I have always had trouble giving him water and the amount of water he takes is few sips. I know he needs it. I offer all liquids in a cup but they seldom get baby to take them that way. The amount of water he takes weighs twenty-five pounds."

Answer: As it would be almost impossible for a baby weighing twenty-five pounds at one year to be underweight, I think for the first condition you had best rearrange the diet. Give less milk, perhaps only two cupfuls a day to drink. Don't be worried if you don't find the food so that the baby takes more solid foods and more water to drink. Use whole wheat cereals as they are more laxative, and enlarge the amount of vegetables and fruits, even if you think you are using enough. Cutting down on the milk to drink will give baby an appetite for solid food.

If the suppositories have not been successful I should stop using them and use massage, regular hours, a different type of stool and the above diet. Don't be worried if you don't have immediate results. Nothing will happen if the baby misses a day. If baby doesn't get outdoors continue to use cod liver oil with his milk. It is used to it, but with daily airings and sun he doesn't need it so vitally the second year.

FINDS TRAINING SUCCESSFUL

Mrs. M. T. writes: "For mother who has a hard time with a baby from bottle to cup I have found this method very successful. Baby should be given his orange juice and water in a glass as early as eight months. About four ounces jelly glass does nicely and baby can hold it almost like his bottle. Take one or two ounces of his formula and mix with it. If he refuses it do not force, or build up any resistance against it. In a short time let him try again, keeping a bottle out of sight. If he does drink it is his his bottle, but try again next time. When he accepts it keep increasing amount of milk in glass and decrease in bottle. When he can take most of his formula by cup put the bottle out of sight."

A. This is to train a baby, too. The mother who is having difficulty with a baby who is drinking pleasant. Small glasses with handles are nice, too, or a dolly's tea cup, if not too small. Anything that will help the baby to drink is a success. The mother who is having difficulty with a baby who is drinking pleasant. Small glasses with handles are nice, too, or a dolly's tea cup, if not too small. Anything that will help the baby to drink is a success.

HEALTH AND DIET ADVICE

Dr. Frank McCoy

Dr. McCoy will answer personal questions on health and diet, addressed to him, care of The Los Angeles Times. In case stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

WHY DOES A HEAD ACHE?

There are very few people who do not frequently suffer from headaches. In fact, these are probably the most universal of all ailments. This form of suffering affects the captain of finance, the worker, the old and the young, male and female, alike. The degree of ache may vary from a slight annoyance to the most intense suffering. The only persons escaping are those who are perfectly healthy or who guard their living habits carefully.

It must be remembered that a headache is a symptom of something serious, wrong in the body, not necessarily within the head. It is a mistake for a sufferer to do himself with headache medicines to desensitize a nervous system against the warning of pain instead of seeking out the cause and overcoming the source of the trouble. These medicines may be permissible as an emergency to relieve suffering, but the danger is that many people consider them cures and do not seek out the real cause. As a result the headaches tend to recur with even greater severity and injury to the body.

Every headache leaves the nervous system exhausted and may greatly weaken the body's resistance against serious disease. The rest of the day in the food so that the baby takes more solid foods and more water to drink. Use whole wheat cereals as they are more laxative, and enlarge the amount of vegetables and fruits, even if you think you are using enough. Cutting down on the milk to drink will give baby an appetite for solid food.

The great majority of headaches is caused by an overburdened liver filled with toxins because of insufficient elimination. Overeating, and the use of heavy foods, contribute to this torpid condition. A careful study of your diet for one or two meals before the misery starts will usually give a clew to the cause. If you will often find that such foods as onions, garlic, cocktails and red wines will produce an irritation internally which will effect the top of the head by calling forth the pain.

Constipation also is a frequent cause of headaches because of the pressure of feces in the rectum against the pelvic and sensitive nerves of the lower abdomen. Constipation of the pelvic organs is apt to produce reflex headaches. Either high or low blood pressure will produce headaches. With high blood pressure the head is apt to be trying to burst and there is a driving noise and pounding of the pulse in the ears. A low blood pressure headache usually comes on after shopping, missing a night's sleep, or doing anything which produces enervation.

Steady pains in some parts of the face, or in the eyes may be due to abscessed teeth or sinus infections. Pressure of gas in the in-

Easier on the Knees When doing a lot of scrubbing, protect yourself from sore knees by folding some soft cloths into squares and tucking them into your stockings before you start the job.

A Good Thought When the entire family reads the newspaper, let each person write his or her initials on the cover when finished with the issue. In this way the housewife knows when it can be thrown out and anyone desiring to clip an article knows when he is at liberty to do so.

RECKLESS AUTOIST GETS TEN-DAY TERM

Attempting to disregard a police blockade cost Emil Vincent, 411 East Forty-second street, a ten-day jail sentence when he appeared before Traffic Judge McKay. Vincent was charged with reckless driving. Testimony introduced by Deputy City Prosecutor Jack showed that Vincent drove through a police blockade, with signal lights against him, at First street and Glendale Boulevard at 1 a.m. on January 28, last. He knocked down Police Officer Fishery, who attempted to stop him. The policeman sustained a fractured wrist and bruises. He is still in the hospital.

Chicago's Salvation Chicago police the last six months have killed thirty gangsters and wounded fifty-four, the Police Commissioner reports. The gangsters, in addition, have killed more than 100 of their own number. Chicago's salvation may be attained by a process of elimination.—Louisville Courier Journal.

SHRINE TO START SALE OF TICKETS

Season Admission Cards to Coliseum Pageants of Order Ready Wednesday

Applications for season tickets for the Coliseum features of the fifty-fifth annual Shrine convention here June 4, 5 and 6 will be received Wednesday at Al Malinak Temple, 685 West Jefferson street, and at 1202 Broadway Arcade Building. Applications may be made in person or by mail and will be filled in the order received. The season tickets at $5.50 reserve seats for the Coliseum for the motion-picture electrical pageant, for four performances of the Circus Maximus, one of which will be held at night, and for the two dress parades in which thousands of Shriner will march and which will terminate inside the Coliseum. Shriner recall that nearly 100,000 people were turned away from the Coliseum at the electrical pageant of the Shrine convolve four years ago.

Officers Face Dry Sentence

The intermittent flash of a hand spotlight, said to have been used by officers to signal run runners, so that the latter might land twenty cases of Scotch whisky on an Ocean Park pier, led to the arrest and conviction of Sam Eizman, a former Los Angeles police officer stationed at Venice.

Today Eizman and John A. Martin, former Santa Monica officer, who pleaded guilty, are to appear for sentence before United States District Judge McCormick for conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act.

A co-defendant of Eizman and Martin was Charles Deane, watchman on the pier, but jury found Deane not guilty. Federal dry agents charged that the three were sending the run runners, who exchanged shots with the dry agents and escaped in a speed boat.

APPEAL OF SINGER IS UNBOUNDED

Marion Harris, Popular Artist, Charms Audience at Orpheum

BY PHILIP K. SCHUEER
The old notice needs revising. "Look around now" it should read—"choose the nearest entrance to the Orpheum, and, in case of doubt of any kind, to avoid disappointment, RUN (do not walk) to that entrance."

Once inside and comfortably seated, you may wait, with what patience (or even, mayhap, enthusiasm) you can muster, through those acts which present Lou Lockie and Peggy Page, with Wally Coyle, in "Say It While Dancing," Frank Hamilton as "the volcanic" eruption of songs; George Doran and Company (of one in "Scientific Nonsense") and Mayo and Lynn as "Two Strange Gentlemen"—you may wait through those acts and still discern no valid reason for any such drastic alteration of the notice as that with which this article is headed. "That law was made enough for my father," you may say, "but without right"—and by heavenly it's good enough for me.

But when you have seen and heard Marion Harris, who comes fifth on the bill, it is more than likely that you will be the very first to petition the management to have the rule amended as above. "Here, surely," you will nod, "is a lady of quality." It is probable that you will listen to the records which appear (at indecently long intervals) bearing the voice of Marion Harris on their shiny, black surfaces. It is possible, too, that you once heard her singing out at you from the screen in her rather ill-advised cinema debut. Neither medium even begins to do justice to the Marion Harris who stopped in at the Orpheum yesterday to be fifth on the bill.

This Miss Harris is tall and blond and lovely. There is, in some indefinable way, something of Garbo about her. She sings quietly, yet with amazing distinctness; her voice is richly personal and melodic; you will want to hear more and more of it. You will even appreciate the impulse which prompted the program-makers to turn in desperation to another tongue in their search for a phrase which would capture something of the charm that is hers.

Reine des chanteuses. As with all real artists, it matters little what Miss Harris' subject matter is made up of. I may mention, however, that most of the so-called ballads in her repertoire are directed toward an omnipresent "you." "I'll get by as long as I have you," "Wasn't it you who made us part, breaking my heart forever," "Because I'm crazy for you," "All by your side in the moonlight" and so on. And I dare say that every man in the audience yesterday considered himself personally singled out for Miss Harris' endearments, when it was she who was singing to all the time.

An adagio dancer not appearing under the auspices of Pauline and Marco has been found! She is Natacha Natova, "international star of the dance," and an adagio dancer less concerned about safety of life and limb. I have never seen eyes on. Miss Natova suffers herself to be tossed again and again from one to another of three big strong men who ought to be ashamed of themselves, picking on a poor girl like that. The act is quite remarkable.

Billy and Elsa Newell score with comedy songs and dances; and Gaby's Mexican Revue closes. Benny Rubin appeared yesterday as a guest on the Orpheum's anniversary program.

Although this is the fifth week of the presentation of this delightful witty and romantic Molnar comedy, formerly seen at the Vine Street, the Majestic Theater was crowded to the uppermost tier in the gallery. Even the boxes seemed to live again in their old fashioned glory, holding as they did enthusiastic well-wishers of Horton.

The arrival of "The Swan" at the Majestic was no trivial occasion. The Majestic it was that Edward Everett Horton played first when he came to Los Angeles as an actor some ten odd years ago. Now, after having scored a substantial success both as an actor and producer-manager, he moves his most pretentious production thus far, "The Swan," lock, stock and barrel to the setting of his initial triumph.

The Majestic wore a dressed-up appearance last night. Well it might. The theater had been scrubbed, it would seem, and repainted until it is almost dazzling in its brightness. Perhaps that part of it which presents the most startling appearance to the uninitiated is the foyer. A huge wall mirror has been installed, crystal chandeliers give brilliant light, and the whole effect is one of cheerfulness and warmth. The carpeting throughout the playhouse is a warm red, even the seat backs have been touched with red stripes, the outer stage curtain has been repainted in futuristic design, and there have been other equally interesting changes.

Last night's audience was a warmly enthusiastic one and vouchsafed welcoming applause to almost all members of the distinguished cast as they made their individual appearance. At the conclusion of the second act, there were repeated curtain calls.

NO DULL MINUTES AT PANTAGES

Those who yearn for the days when vaudeville was vaudeville, and every act a headliner, will find at least a near approach to that golden era at Pantages Theater this week. The bill begins with the proverbial bang and ends in one of the cleverest acts to appear on the stage of the Seventh-street house in some time. But the acts in between are equally enjoyable. There are few dull moments in store for pantages patrons this week.

It is the Rose Kress Trio which starts things off with a sensational roller skating offering. The stunts performed by this troupe are so fast and so daring that they leave the audience a bit breathless, but decidedly happy, owing to the fact that the entire trio finish their stunts intact.

Following close in their wake come a pair of comedians billed as Thompson and Kemp. These two in their act of song, dance, patter and what not go to prove the fact that in the negro vaudeville finds one of its most popular sources of entertainment.

And then there is Marionette and her Rye Oyle. Elaborate scenic effects and brilliant costumes make this act outstanding for pageantry. Marionette proves an unusually pretty girl who doesn't have to do a great deal more than appear in ultra-ultra costumes and execute a few kicks to go over with an audience.

Assisting her, however, are two boys who have apparently forgotten more about dancing than most of us ever knew. They have some cleverly composed number, among them a country yodel gas that clicks tremendously. A pianist and a singer add a bit of variety to the act as a whole.

A lowered curtain, a burst of melody from the orchestra, and then come two old-timers in the vaudeville profession, namely, Ward and Raymond. They were apparently remembered by many of the audience who greeted their first Pantages appearance Saturday.

The high point in their act is the finale, when each of them does dances he did when both first embarked on their vaudeville career together—incidentally, in one of Los Angeles' first vaudeville houses. But even after this, Al Jolson's favorite comment, "You ain't seen nothin' yet," holds good. Offering the final stage act are the Four Kemmies.

It would, indeed, be hard to please one who failed to enjoy the entertainment presented by this troupe. There are adagio dancing, statue numbers and balancing, done with remarkable grace. There is an absolute lack of the "circus" element so often prevalent in acts of this type. Every movement, whether of an expressive or an acrobatic nature, is executed with the quiet precision of a classic dance.

HONEGGER MUSIC OF INTEREST

Important Contributions to Modern Trend Heard at Biltmore Concert

BY ISOBEL MORSE JONES
Arthur Honegger, of Paris, brought musical messages of great interest to a large gathering of members of the Los Angeles chapter of Pro-Musica in the ballroom of the Biltmore last Saturday evening. His music was variously interpreted by himself, his wife, Andre Vaurabourg Honegger, pianist; Colma Wright, soprano; and members of the Musart Quartet, Emil Ferli, violinist; Josef Borissoff, violinist; George Benkert, violinist; and Nicholas Oehl-Albt, violoncelist. The program was necessarily limited to works for piano, voice and strings.

Such an evening with the composition and the personality of a musician so outstanding in the music of today is of inestimable value. Only by direct contact with new music and under favorable circumstances, can we appreciate the new trend. Pro-Musica is doing an estimable work in this providing the opportunity and when its development has reached the stage of advancement that will make it possible to present the best composers of our own country, as well as those of Europe, its usefulness will have expanded indeed.

Honegger's music is, at first impression, primitive. It is rudimentary, original and certainly the first stages of a mighty development. This was immediately apparent in the smaller works heard Saturday. In the larger compositions for orchestra Honegger has reached a very much higher stage. Whether it is the ultimate for him remains to be heard, but certainly his orchestra work expresses his best.

The opening suite for two pianos, prelude, chorale and canon, played by Andre Vaurabourg Honegger and Arthur Honegger, and composed in 1925, is modern music in an ancient form. His suite is an example of the modernist creed; every melody for itself and the listener can do his own interpreting. Obviously it takes a knowledge of musical anatomy and the familiarity of many repetitions to do this with pleasure.

Mrs. Honegger is a skillful pianist and of a charming personality. Her unaffected modesty and delicate world charm won her her audience completely. Her understanding of the works of her husband was well proven in the suite and in a group of seven intriguing short pieces composed by the wholly delightful "Homage a Ravel." This last composition was greatly enjoyed by the layman and the musician alike.

It is a naive, finished piece of work, beautiful as well as interesting. The string quartet in G-minor, which concluded the concert, was, to my mind, the most important work presented. The first movement is not intelligible to the average listener but the second or Largo movement is an achievement of beautiful shimmering tone and justifies the modern idiom. The Musart Quartet, whose excellence is steadily increasing, gave it thoughtful, painstaking performance.

Cobina Wright's presentation of impressionistic love songs and fragments of poems was set off by a remarkable costume of studied elegance. The three poems of Paul Fort about a hunter, a cross along the way and the lightness of bees and flowers were later suggested by the "Ophelia" and "Rosaire" and three songs of the Sirens. Not having the translations printed and being unable to perceive any particular differences in Mrs. Wright's portrayals, the audience was rather vaguely polite about its acceptance. Perhaps she purposely accented their obscurity, inhibiting them more interesting than I can agree.

In interpreting a group of songs of French sentiment in a foreign language and in a very unusual musical idiom, a certain quality of wistful eagerness toward clarity is helpful. This quality pervaded the audience but was totally lacking in the singer on Saturday evening.

A review of this unusual evening would not be complete without a word about the whole charming, bland, simplicity of Mr. Honegger. It is a matter of regret that he could not have been persuaded to talk about his musical intentions.

NORTHCOTT TO PLEAD INSANITY

Youth Will Try to Prove Being Subnormal

Mother Called to Testify at Trial Tomorrow

Clark, Defendant's Counsel, Ready His Brother

BY JAMES H. KENNEDY

"There" Staff Representative
Charles Stewart Northcott will begin a desperate fight for his life when his trial is resumed here tomorrow and probably will fall back on "insanity" as his defense for the alleged murder of his wife.

This move became apparent tonight when the youth ordered his re-engaged counsel to have his mother, Mrs. Louise Northcott, brought here Friday from San Quentin to assist him in proving that he is subnormal as the result of circumstances surrounding his birth.

Northcott, who was granted a two-day court adjournment because he was suffering from a "pink eye," spent the entire day in conference with David Clark, his brother.

Clark, according to reports, is attempting to prove that Northcott is subnormal.

At the trial, Northcott's mother will be called to the stand to testify that she was told by Northcott that he was the murderer of his wife.

An order was issued today for Northcott's arrest, and he was taken to the jail.

Judge Will See Torn Oriental Dance Costume

Just how an Oriental dance costume can be torn into shreds was shown to a jury of a Superior Judge today.

The judge, Judge Fawcett, was shown a torn Oriental dance costume which was brought to court by a woman who claimed it was the costume worn by a dancer who had been arrested for indecent exposure.
